

RBC and the Government of Canada Present Request for Proposal (RFP) Workshops

Are you:

- A small or medium business owner or sales executive?
- Wondering how to navigate the RFP process?
- Wondering how to use the RFP process for sourcing of goods and services?
- Interested in doing business with the 2010 Winter Games or other major events?
- Wondering how to respond to Government of Canada bids?

What is a Request for Proposal (RFP)? Demystify the RFP Bid Process Workshop

RBC invites you to join us to understand the components of the Request For Proposal process and learn how to respond to an RFP. This seminar will also give you a clear understanding of the principles of sustainability and how they are affecting the current business climate.

Date: Tuesday, October 27th, 2009

Time: 8.30 - 9.00 a.m. Registration/Continental Breakfast
9.00 - 12.00 p.m. RBC Workshop

Location: RBC Royal Bank, Royal Centre Tower, 33rd Floor
1055 West Georgia Street, Vancouver

What is a Request for Proposal (RFP)? Understanding the Government of Canada Procurement Process

The Government of Canada invites you to this session which will provide businesses general advice and guidance on how to analyze the Request for Proposal (RFP) process and requirements, respond to a request for proposal and how bids are evaluated, specifically for the Government of Canada.

Date: Tuesday, October 27th, 2009

Time: 12.30 - 2.30 p.m. Government of Canada Workshop

Location: RBC Royal Bank, Royal Centre Tower, 33rd Floor
1055 West Georgia Street, Vancouver

To register for these workshops, contact Jan Lean at jan.lean@rbc.com by Thursday, October 22nd and indicate which workshop(s) you are interested in attending. Seating is limited.

Light lunch will be provided.