Eight ways to enhance business efficiency

1. Increase efficiency		5 .	5. Review your equipment
	Iron out small inefficiencies by streamlining systems and processes.		Consider leasing key equipment or machinery needed to increase capacity.
	Leverage technology to streamline processes and become more efficient.		Investigate new technology that removes redundant processes or replaces manual tasks.
	Manage your workloads so they're effectively prioritized and delegated.		Talk to best-practice businesses in your industry to find out how they run their systems.
2.	Improve skills		Invest in new equipment that will increase your competitive advantage by getting products to market quicker than your competition.
	Review staff skills and experience, then identify where improvements can be made.	6.	Raise capital to enhance capacity
	Identify necessary training courses and enrol staff. Run in-house training sessions.		Review your current cash situation and determine if you have spare capital that could be invested in the Review your own qualifications and enhance them where necessary.		business. Determine if you have unused assets that could be sold and the cash used to reinvest in new equipment.
	Determine if new staff with specialized knowledge need to be hired.		• •
3.	Improve performance		Talk to the bank about your capacity needs and discuss business loans, overdraft and credit options.
	Eliminate unnecessary and time-consuming jobs to improve efficiency. Delegate work to those who are best qualified for,	7.	Develop smarter systems or suited to, the task. Develop templates for everyday documents like invoices.		Review your current systems and pinpoint areas that need improving.
	Encourage staff to evaluate their work quality and make improvements.		Get input from employees on ways to improve operations.
	Check that progress is really matching your business goals.		Make a list of the solutions needed to improve systems.
4.	Sort out staff requirements	8. □	Form an alliance or partnership Determine your expectations and outcome.
	Check to make sure you have the right mix of employees for your requirements.		Select partners who are like-minded.
	Identify which employees are directly contributing to output, and which are contributing to your overhead.		Approach them with your proposition. Develop a partnership agreement, including exit clauses.
	Identify employees you might need to make redundant, or change their role to contribute to output.		Update your marketing strategy to include the new alliance.
	Identify third party contractors or other companies that could take up extra slack to increase your capacity at any time.

This information provided here is general information only and is not intended as legal, financial or other professional advice. A professional advisor should be consulted regarding your specific situation. While information presented is believed to be factual and current, its accuracy is not guaranteed and it should not be regarded as a complete analysis of the subjects discussed.